Picking Up Money

Using these columns is pretty much like picking up money on the streets. Walking is small effort, you wear out a little, the money you pick up is clear gain, if you can't find the owner.

So it is little effort to telephone your "want" to this paper, your carrier will collect the little cost—only 25 cents a word each insertion—and the little ad is altogether likely to get for you what you want.

City Council Is To Meet This Evening

Preliminary legislation providing for an overhead crossing over the N. & W. tracks at Eighth street will be introduced at the regular meeting of the city council Wednesday evening by City Solicitor McGold, pursuant to a request from the council at its last meeting. No action will be taken at this meeting, the ordinance merely being up for its first reading. It is quite likely that property owners in the East End, who claim that they will be damaged by the abandonment of the Randall avenue subway project, will have their hearing before council before any definite action is taken on the matter has to be presented to council in regular form before a discussion can be had. For this reason, it was decided to have the ordinance providing for the overhead crossing introduced.

Nervy Hobo Rifled Suit Case, Arrested

For real unbridled audacity, you'll have to hand it to Charles Hammond, a wanderer from Murray City, Ohio, who is now in the city prison with a fine of $100 and costs hanging over him for larceny. Hammond walked in the N. & W. baggage room on Tenth street early Tuesday evening, and opening a suit case belonging to J. T. Ferguson, of Morgan county, Ky., helped himself to a pair of shoes, a pair of trousers, a clean shirt, and other articles of raiment.

After securing what wearing apparel he desired, Hammond walked into the toilet room at the station, and discarding his own clothes, garbed himself in the garments. Later, when Ferguson returned for his suit case, he discovered that it had been rifled. Officer Flowers was appealed to, and after a short search, apprehended Hammond with the goods on him. Ferguson identified the property as his own, and Hammond was placed under arrest.

In police court Wednesday morning, Hammond told a story of having met a man at the depot who gave him the articles to sell for him, promising him half if he was successful in disposing of them. His story found little credence with the mayor, who fined him $200 and costs, later remitting half of the amount. Hammond is without funds, and he will probably have to work out his fine.

SOME KNOWN FACTS ABOUT RHEUMATISM

There are many things that are still unknown about rheumatism. The treatment of it is still far from satisfactory. Doctors realize this but nobody is more fully aware of it than the sufferers themselves.

A tendency to rheumatism once established, the pain often returns with every change of weather, showing that the poison is still in the blood waiting favorable conditions to become active and cause trouble.

One fact is known and acknowledged by all medical writers and that is the rapid thinning of the blood when the rheumatic poison invades it. Building up the blood is the best remedy for rheumatism as the enriched blood is able to overcome or throw off the poisons of the disease.

For this reason rheumatic sufferers should be interested in the success which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have had in the treatment of this painful disease. A book, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free on request by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. It contains directions regarding diet, baths and hygiene for rheumatic patients.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists everywhere.

meat turns out to be well founded. Leete noticed an article in Tuesday's Cincinnati Enquirer which stated that Governor McCleary had offered a reward of $100 for the arrest of Boone Frazier, charged with killing Josiah Combs, in Perry county, Ky., twenty years ago.

After reading the article, Leete happened to remember a man by that name whom he used to know in Huntington, W. Va., who answered to the meagre description given of the man wanted. He notified the mayor, who in turn notified the chief of police of Huntington, W. Va.

If the man proves to be the right one, Leete will claim half of the reward, sharing equally with the arresting officer.

Beggar Is Fined

Frederick Greave, an itinerant, who was apprehended by Chief McCarty and Officer Braudhus Tuesday evening for begging, was assessed a fine of $10 by Mayor Brick Wednesday morning. He was unable to pay, and was put to work in the "work gang."

On Vacation

Holmes Hiltensiddle, chief draftsman for the Portsmouth Steel company, has gone away on a two weeks' vacation trip. A. B. Brumble will look after his duties during his absence.

Must Find Cause

A young man recently called on the Bi-Chemie Doctors, for stomach trouble, and after stating his mission to the doctor in charge, asked what they could do for him.

"I don't know that we can do anything for you until we have examined you thoroughly," replied the doctor. "But," said the young man, "I have given you a clear statement of my case, just as I have told it to a dozen other physicians with whom I have treated." "Yes, but have you ever been examined by a specialist?" "No, for I don't think an examination is necessary, as I know what my trouble is and have told you. To this the doctor replied: "We Bi-Chemie Doctors are very jealous of our opinions and very careful in the selection of cases for treatment. We never accept a case until we have satisfied ourselves as to the cause of the trouble, by a careful and thorough examination. Then, and then only, are we in a position to offer an opinion and tell a patient what we believe will be accomplished by our treatment.

"We make no wild claims or statements, but we do claim that a case may not be cured until the physician discovers the cause of the disease.

The above illustrates the idea held by many that all that is needed for them is to tell a physician how they feel. He then is supposed to be able to prescribe intelligently and cure the disease. Nothing could be further from the truth. The successful specialists must discover the cause of the trouble in order to eradicate it.

The Bi-Chemie Doctors select the worst cases to come to them, and if they consider your case hopeless they will tell you so, freely, but kindly. The Bi-Chemie Doctors have their Portsmouth Institute located on the third floor of the Mesonia Temple Building. Office hours daily from 9:00 to 12:00 and from 1:30 to 5:00. The Movies

Columbia Tonight and Tomorrow
The Columbia tonight offers an exceptionally good five cent program. "With His Hands" is the 6th number of that story of "The Man Who Disappeared," which has been running in the Popular Magazine. Everybody pronounces this as the greatest and most interesting of all the serial pictures that are now before the public. The other picture is "The Song of Sunny Italy" and is a most beautiful Biograph drama and all picturegoers know that anything that the Biograph company puts out is always of the highest type.

For tomorrow, Thursday, Manager Tynes announces "The Other Half of the Note," a detective story in three parts, reproducing the workings of the secret service department of Uncle Sam and giving you a vivid insight as to how the United States government has to deal with smugglers and lawbreakers. With this picture you will enjoy a musical treat with Prof. Bodie's orchestra.

At The Exhibit Theatre Tonight

More than 1200 persons packed the Exhibit theatre last night to witness that wonderful production, "The Million Dollar Mystery." Manager Law had promised a startling feature and lived up to every word of praise and commendation published in advance. Every person who saw the show last night or in the afternoon will be back next Tuesday night when the second installment of this show will be presented.

Every Tuesday night "The Million Dollar Mystery" which is a serial, will be produced at the Exhibit until every inch of the seven miles of film has been shown.

Tonight Manager Law offers another headliner, "The Fires of Ambition," a powerful western subject produced under the Dominio brand. It is a mining story, and where Indians take a prominent part and where interest is at fever heat. Two reels of realism and heroism combined. See it tonight.

On Thursday night will be the fourth serial of "The Perils of Pauline," which is a favorite with Portsmouth theatregoers. It will be the last installment. For the benefit of those who have not seen "The Perils of Pauline" the synopsis of the three preceding episodes are hereby published.

Harry Marvin and his adopted sister Pauline have been left orphans by the death of their father, who left half his fortune to Harry and half to Pauline to be held in trust for her by his Secretary Owen till she marries. He makes the provision that should Pauline die before marriage that the fortune should go to Owen. Owen, a villain in the power of a tough character, Hines, plots Pauline's death so the fortune would be his. He fails in one attempt through the intervention of Harry, and decides to get her away from Harry. He persuades her to go with him on a treasure hunt. Harry is suspicious, and follows in the disguise of an old man and warns Pauline. She, however, not recognizing him, decides to go ahead.

HARDWARE ROBBERIES MAY BE CLEANED UP IN ARREST OF YOUTH ON TUESDAY EVENING

Chief of Police McCarthy is confident that in the arrest of John Royce, eighteen-year-old son of Thomas Royce of Tenth street, the department has cleaned up the mystery that has surrounded the robberies of the Hibbs Hardware company and the Shoemaker Brothers Hardware company stores. Royce was taken in custody about eleven o'clock Tuesday night in the North End by Chief McCarthy and Officer Flaw.

Shortly after his arrest, young Royce was taken to the station in the rear of the Ginn grocery store at Eleventh and Findlay streets, where he was uncovered from his hiding place five manure sets and four revolvers, all stolen property. The manure sets were later identified by employees of the Hibbs company as having been a part of the lot taken from that store in the robbery of a few weeks ago, the company's sales covers being still fastened to the covers. Shoemakers identified three of the revolvers as their property. The owner of the fourth revolver has not been determined.

Royce claims that the Hibbs robbery was committed by two Whitman, local youth now an inmate of the Mansfield Reformatory, who he claims turned over the plunder to him for safe keeping. Whitman could not have perpetrated the Shoemaker robbery, which occurred last Saturday or Sunday night, as he was then a prisoner at Mansfield. He was taken to that institution one week ago last Monday after having confessed to the robbery of the Trip store at South Webster. No formal hearing was necessary, as the lad was then out on parole, and his confession established a violation of his parole.

A few days ago, the police received word that Royce was on his way to dispose of some manure sets which answered to the description of the ones stolen from the Hibbs store, which gave them their first clue to a probable solution of the robbery. The man whom Royce approached was Alex Davis, the well known editor of the North End. Since that time, the officers have had Royce under surveillance, and Tuesday night decided to place him under arrest. Royce pleaded ignorance for a short time, but finally confessed to having possession of the stolen goods.

What has become of the dozen or more expensive pearl-handled knives that were stolen from the Hibbs store at the same time is baffling the police, but Officer Flawear unearthed a clue late Tuesday night that will probably lead to the recovery of some of them.

Royce is expected to make a clean breast of his connection with the robberies during the next twenty-four hours, which will clear up everything. The Hibbs robbery was committed just exactly three weeks ago Wednesday night, while the Shoemaker store was entered either last Saturday or Sunday night.

Royce and Accomplices Were Bound Over

More thorough investigation by Chief McCarthy and Officer Flawear following the arrest of John Royce late Tuesday night, brought about the arrest Wednesday morning of James Turner, colored, Royce's alleged accomplice. Turner was apprehended as an important witness against Royce, but in the examination in Mayor Frank's court Wednesday morning, evidence was adduced which, in the opinion of the court, warranted him being held as an accomplice in the crime.

Young Royce exhibited a sullen attitude when arraigned before the mayor, and entered a plea of not guilty to the charges. He repudiated his partial confession made to Chief McCarthy and Patriarch Flawear Tuesday night, and insisted that he knew nothing of the robbery, nor how the stolen goods found their way into the "tinny" stable, where they were found by the officers. Turner, however, testified that Royce had commissioned him to dispose of the stolen lot at the best possible price.

Another sensational feature of Turner's testimony was his statement that Royce tried to induce him to join with him in a robbery of the Hibbs store again Tuesday evening, just a few hours before his arrest. He said he refused to be a party to the crime, and that Royce then abandoned the idea.

The police hold to the theory that both George Whitman, now at the Mansfield Reformatory,

They are not a bad bunch of fellows, but the owners of the berths, but they did not have the remotest idea the team was such a classy organization. They expected to put the brakes on the club down's winning streak, but the machine went right on without a puncture, having scattered all over the field the remnants of the article which was the pastime. It was exactly suited to such hard working athletes as White and Burden, who work at the top of their ability at all times, and who do their duty so energetically that they can look the club owners square in the eyes when it comes, which is pretty often.

The boys jumped right into the fray with eyes aflutter and faces flush, pushing a crowd in the opening dug-out for three straight hits. It looked at the start as though Burden would test no longer than a show of watermelon in the hands of a pickaninny. Bagein savated away over the head of McCall, but in left and back, third when left, found a nice little bump about the left foot line. Goodell did not wait to be hit, but he was smart enough to get a quick, Bagein, rolling home, Bagein's right, artistically and a kick, back to the sack. Right here is where Burden showed his cunning. For several days it has been rumored that the Reds will soon grab four million dollars and with these disbursements the German cause will close the gates on their party.

Harry Herndon pooh-poohs the report and says that he will stop every player from handling through the Moscow front channels. "Any fellow who has been in the German game is already perished by the first news of the pu-ment. It begins to look as if we have resorted to desperate measures and all we want and need is to ruble in half a billion dollars' worth of promises of help from the United States and the English National League. I am not assuming much more, but when it comes to the last day of the year, I am resolved to give out as much of the promised aid as I can."

Yes, we'll say the Chills gang has been stepping along some the past few days.

Let's see just what they have done during this short period. Why, they were two in a row from Mayville in Mayville; right even here with the

Edwards Road Ferryman, who had three, and even the Hamilton in Tuesday. It is about at 9 o'clock, I suppose, of a Sunday, I think, that they were back of a double, I think, evidently just got some one two in a row from Mayville in Mayville; right even here with the

the ball game.

A pretty race is certainly being staged in the Ohio state house.

It is one of the most interesting in minor league baseball. When Lexington was beaten by Columbus the Thursday before last, the odds dropped into a tie with Portsmouth, the team having won 22 and lost 24.

For the purpose of holding the annual state fair the Houston Board of Education will give a sporting exhibition of the best track and field, two madball matches, basketball and flying discus to the spectators. There have been organized a high school sporting exhibition, and some of the best will be given here. The board of education will give a series of round tournaments. # WOMAN FALLS INTO ABANDONED VAULT

Mrs. May Osborn, wife of Rev. F. B. Osborn, of the N. & W. Y. M. C. A. in East Portsmouth, had a thrilling experience Tuesday afternoon when she plunged into an abandoned vault in the rear of her home at 1834 Summit street.

Without warning the thin layer of dangerous position. Mrs. Osborn of dirt that covered the vault swooned away when carried into it and would have met with serious injuries if she had not been rescued by the police. Mrs. Osborn severely injured when she fell into the vault, but she was rescued by the police. Mrs. Osborn severely injured when she fell into the vault, but she was rescued by the police.

Forecast

Unsettled over upper Ohio valley tonight and Thursday, with probably showers. River will rise slowly.

H. C. DONNALLY,
River Observer.

The Ohio was 6.8 feet and rising here Wednesday morning. A stage of 8 1/2 feet was reported in the Kanawha river Wednesday morning and a big fleet of coal will be sent out of that stream for Cincinnati this evening. Thursday's packet departures: Str. Bay Queen for Huntington at 2 p. m.; Str. Klondike for Rome at 2 p. m.

The new pleasure steamer Oh-mer Smith, now being built at Jeffersonville, Ind., will be ready to launch into the Ohio river in a few days. The compound machinery is being built at Marietta, Ohio, and the battery of boilers at Parkersburg, W. Va.

Pittsburg, Penn., July 1.—Although there was a substantial rise in the rivers Saturday and Sunday the rise was not sufficient to send coal from the local harbor to southern points. However, two boats which have been tied up at points along the upper Ohio river and the packets which were laid up on account of the low water, will probably resume their delayed trips to this city from Ohio river points.

The steamer Kanawha is en route to this city from Point Pleasant, W. Va., where she had up about 10 days ago on account of the low stages. She is scheduled to arrive here on Wednesday morning.

The steamers F. M. Wallace and Duquesne are expected to leave Middleport, Ohio, tomorrow afternoon to this city with empty.

War Declared On All River Rats

Dr. W. W. Smith, city health officer, received a lengthy telegram Monday evening from Secretary McCampbell, of the State Board of Health, calling his attention to the outbreak of bubonic plague at New Orleans, and urging him to have the city's water front patrolled to see that the rodents from boats coming up the river are promptly exterminated. Similar notices were issued to the health authorities of every city along the Ohio river.

PORTSMOUTH GROWS STEADILY

Records in County Recorder Joseph Switalski's office for the year ending June 30th, 1914, show undisturbed growth and development. Papers of record are reported over last year, while 120 more papers were filed in the recorder's office during the previous year. The recapitulation of the year's business, which will be completed within the next ten days, or two weeks, will abundantly prove that Portsmouth has not gone back during the year just closing, according to Mr. Switalski.

Small Sized Scrap On Str. Peerless

William Spence, of Winchester, Ky., but at present employed here, caused quite a commotion aboard the steamer Peerless soon after it left here for a trip up the river Tuesday evening.

Spence, who was about three sheets in the wind, became infuriated with a little blonde girl and tried to pull her out of a ring game in which she and friends were participating. His attentions became so annoying to her that the girl's brother rushed to her defense. Spence made a pass at the young fellow but he struck him a fierce flat blow on the mouth splitting his lip and drawing the blood. Spence claimed he had been cut and a small sized pounce was created on board until the two were separated. Spence was taken down into the boiler room and the other man into the pilot house and when the boat reached New Boston Spence was put ashore.

WILL OBSERVE BOOSTER'S DAY

Boosters' day will be observed by the baseball populace of Huntington Thursday when the first clubbing Portsmouth team will play a double-header in that hopeless town. In discussing the booster day festival, President Miller of the Huntington team says: "Huntington will get a chance to show whether they want baseball to continue this season.
